Why Wadsworth?

Wadsworth Control Systems has earned a reputation as the leading supplier of quality greenhouse automation in the United States. Here's why:

Experience: Wadsworth is the oldest greenhouse automation company in North America. We have been manufacturing since 1952. When you partner with us, you'll get the expertise we have developed from designing and manufacturing controls, energy curtains and vent automation systems for projects ranging from home greenhouses, wholesale production growers, botanical gardens, and developing university and USDA research facilities. You'll find that our decades of experience serving customers large and small will help you. Our team of engineers and technical support experts gives you the advantage of having the industry's most experienced automation experts behind you.

Continuous Improvement: Wadsworth is constantly improving and building on our strengths. We put our experience to work by constantly staying abreast of cutting edge research and incorporating it into our products.

Built to Last: We pride ourselves on building the industry's most durable products. Wadsworth's controls, curtain systems and vent motors are designed for the wide range of climate conditions one expects in a greenhouse. Ask our customers or installers, Wadsworth's products keep on working.

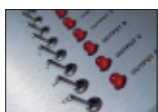

Made in the USA: Wadsworth is proud to produce an entire line of products Made in the USA. Designed and manufactured here in the U.S. with your growing and climate conditions in mind. When you buy from Wadsworth, you can be proud of supporting US manufacturing. And because we build everything in-house you can be assured our expertise runs deep. Unlike others who simply import and distribute products, we have the bench strength to help you from start to finish.

With a Wadsworth Energy Curtain System:
It's an Open and Shut Case!

- Superior rack and pinion drive reduces total cost of ownership.
- State-of-the-art shade, energy, and blackout fabrics for all applications.
- Tight bundling design minimizes shadows when uncovered.
